Camo Pots breathable triple layer construction. Provides superior aeration, increasing breathability and drainage. Creating the perfect environment to promote and accelerate root growth while enhancing the plants stability and deterring troublesome root bound issues. The unique construction method creates a sturdy aeration container that is UV protected. Our original UV camo's natural coloring works with the environment and releases more heat than the conventional black potting containers. The ballistic reinforced base has been specifically developed to be durable enough to handle the stress of being moved around from time to time while protecting the container and the plant from damage. Camo Pots innovative design has been developed to work in harmony with a multitude of potting mediums and mixes.
