Odor-Sok Air Filters are constructed using bundles of microscopic activated carbon filaments and fibres. By controlling fibre width to 20 nm, the absorption rate of carbon cloth is similar to that of a single exposed carbon particle. Air flows evenly across the carbon and with accelerated absorption and increased surface area, Odor-Sok Air Filters retain all the properties of traditional canister filters. Faster absorption rates means smaller filter equipment and up to thirty times less carbon in use for the same result over a one-year period. That's how!
